PARKER LINKED TO TRUSTS BY ODELL

If the Judge Would Look at His Bankbooks He Might Find Profits there, the Governor Insinuates.

LACKS FACTS FOR PROOF, BUT HE MAY FIND THEM.

Intimates Things Could Be Told, But Halts When Asked to Be Specific—All Rot, Says McCausland.

"I will make the statement that Judge Parker is connected with the trusts which he has been bitterly assailing. On account of his relations with the heads of these trusts he may have lost. I think if Judge Parker will examine his bankbooks he will find that he has profited by his connection."

The above astounding statement was made by Gov. Odell in an interview with a newspaper man at the Fifth Avenue Hotel to-day.

Asked what he thought of the great demonstration to Judge Parker at Madison Square Garden last night he replied:

"Nothing."

"What do you think, then, Governor, of Judge Parker's speech attacking the trusts?"

"Ask Judge Parker," said the Governor, "whether or not the trusts have contributed to his campaign fund. I would like to ask him, furthermore, what connection his campaign has had with the trusts. Ask Judge Parker if this isn't so."

Gov. Odell was asked if he had facts or figures to prove his assertion or if there was any one to whom he could refer his visitor for more detailed information.

"No, I haven't the facts and figures just now, but perhaps I shall be able to obtain them shortly."

The charge of Gov. Odell was taken to the headquarters of Judge Parker, but Secretary McCausland, after he had heard it, said he would not annoy the Judge with it because it was too absurd.

"Judge Parker," said Mr. McCausland, "is not going to be worried about such rot. He has enough to do without paying attention to anything Gov. Odell may say."

When Senator Patrick H. McCarren, leader of the Kings County Democracy, was asked this afternoon what he had to say of Gov. Odell's assertion to the effect that Judge Parker has accepted favors from the trusts, he answered:

"Is Odell speaking for the trusts? You'd better ask him that question first. It is not for me to discuss in any event, but I presume Judge Parker will answer it for me."

Chairman Cord Meyer, of the Democratic State Committee, declined to discuss the matter.

WEDDING GIFTS IN RICH PLUNDER

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The police were informed to-day that the residence of Dr. William A. MacNicholl, at No. 20 Park avenue, Chester Hill, the fashionable residential section of the city, had been entered some time between 3.30 last Sunday morning and 7 o'clock last evening, and a quantity of jewelry, plate and other articles valued in all at $5,000 taken.

Dr. MacNicholl and his wife left their home Sunday morning and went out to visit friends. Their maid left at the same time to pay a visit to relatives, and the house was left deserted. Dr. MacNicholl and his wife returned at 7 o'clock last evening and the maid reached home two hours later.

The house was in confusion and had been ransacked by the thieves. An investigation showed that there was missing silverware and articles of cut glass and family plate valued at $2,500 and jewelry worth $3,000, the latter belonging to Mrs. MacNicholl. The doctor and Mrs. MacNicholl were married a year ago and many of the stolen articles were wedding presents.

Dr. MacNicholl thinks that the house was entered by means of false keys, as all the doors were found to be locked and none of the windows had been forced. He has no clue to the thief.

AIRSHIP'S THIRD SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 1.—Thomas S. Baldwin's airship, the "California Arrow," made another successful ascension and flight to-day from the world's fair grounds, with Roy Knabenshue, of Toledo, who made two previous flights, at the helm.

At a height of about 700 feet Knabenshue piloted the airship for at least 20 feet and then returned, circling about the concourse.

He later drove straight in the teeth of a seven-mile breeze for some distance.

The airship has been declared a complete success.

THOUSANDS IN NEWARK CHEER JUDGE PARKER

NEWARK, Nov. 1.—More than a thousand persons, many of them women, crowded into the Lackawanna station here to-night to greet Judge Parker, the Democratic candidate for President, when he arrived from New York.

With a brass band playing national airs, about 300 members of the First Voters' Club of Newark were in waiting for the candidate, and as he stepped from the train a round of cheers went up which attracted thousands of persons to the streets near the depot.

The cheering continued until Judge Parker got into a carriage with former United States Senator Smith, of New Jersey, and was driven to the latter's home in Washington place.

"MANNY" FRIEND DIES SUDDENLY

Noted Criminal Lawyer Expired at His Home, Though He Had Not Suffered from Illness Until This Morning.

HAD A PREMONITION THAT DEATH WAS NEAR.

Said in His Office that He Would Not Last the Day Out, and End Came After He Reached Home.

Emanuel M. Friend, the lawyer, died suddenly this afternoon at his home, No. 28 Hamilton terrace. Up to yesterday his health was excellent, but he expressed the belief this morning in his office that he would not last the day out and his prediction came true in a few hours.

After a hard day at his desk, Mr. Friend telephoned to his wife yesterday evening that he would not be home. He explained that he was not feeling well and would spend the night at a Turkish bath. Mrs. Friend says that her husband had great belief in the efficiency of Turkish baths and that it was his custom to go to a bathroom rather than to a doctor when he felt ill.

He telephoned to his home shortly after daylight to-day that he felt very little better and had experienced little or no relief. He said he was going to his office and if he felt no better would be home soon.

Had Premonition of Death.

After a couple of hours at his office in the Pulitzer Building Mr. Friend was compelled to give up. He left final instructions with his managing clerk, Mr. Amosk, and on his way out expressed the opinion that he had reached the finish of a busy life. His employees laughed at him and tried to cheer him up, but he was downcast when he started for Harlem.

On his way to the house he spoke to a policeman on the corner, saying that he was feeling bad. He went direct to his room, and thence to the bathroom, where he collapsed.

Mrs. Friend sent out for a neighbor, and the stricken lawyer was put to bed, while Dr. Disbrow, of One Hundred and Forty-fourth street and Convent avenue, was summoned. Dr. Disbrow saw that the case was serious and hurried downstairs to telephone the family physician.

He returned just in time to see Mr. Friend breathe his last. The doctors incline to the belief that heart-disease was the cause of death. When he got home Mr. Friend complained to his wife that he suffered from pains in the back and in the head.

MOTHER OF LYNCH GIRL TESTIFIES

She Tells Coroner's Jury that She Identified All of Margaret's Features in Body Found at a Cemetery.

DAUGHTER TOLD HER SHE WOULD END LIFE.

District-Attorney Was Unable to Serve a Summons on Oswald Maune to Attend Inquest as a Witness.

When the inquest into the death of Margaret Lynch was resumed to-day in Coroner Wallace's office in Lynbrook, L. I., Mrs. Catherine Lynch, the dead girl's mother, was called to the stand. Mrs. Lynch first told of the identification of her daughter, upon the occasion of the ghastly ceremony of exhuming the body last month.

"I recognized all the features as those of Margaret," said Mrs. Lynch with considerable emotion, "and also identified a religious emblem that my daughter Catherine gave to Margaret many years ago."

Mrs. Lynch said that she had visited her daughter in a maternity hospital in Manhattan twice, the last time a few days before she disappeared. Her daughter had visited her before going to the hospital. At that time Margaret Lynch was living in this city, but her mother could not remember the address. At their last meeting Margaret gave her mother a letter telling of her intention to end her life.

Mrs. Lynch said that Oswald Maune, Jr., and Margaret had been engaged, but that Maune had been taken sick with a nervous trouble and had to be placed in a sanitarium. Her daughter, she said, had visited the Maune family for several years, and had stopped for two families had been intimate and had visited the Catskills together.

Mrs. Mary Lynch Therault, a sister of Margaret Lynch, told of having seen the body after it was taken up, and identified it as that of her sister. Mrs. Therault said she had visited Margaret at Mrs. Freeman's and had remained with her several days, when Margaret went to the maternity hospital. The witness declared that she had talked with Oswald Maune, sr., about the condition of her sister, Margaret, having brought Maune to the house. Maune, she testified, admitted that he was responsible for Margaret's condition.

The District-Attorney was unable to serve a summons on Oswald Maune and secure his attendance as a witness.
